

SITE VISIT TO BUDDHIST TEMPLES & CENTERS

(Facts and Figures change rapidly in Buddhist Atlanta:
Please contact the temple or center when planning your visit.)

Etiquette:

1. Wear modest, comfortable clothing (for example, no shorts, tank tops). A skirt would make the sitting posture difficult unless it is very long.
2. Do not wear any fragrances.
3. Turn your cell phones completely off.
4. Remove your shoes. (Where and when will vary. Please attend to the practices of the site you choose. This will happen soon upon your arrival.
5. Arrive 5-10 minutes early. It is important that you not interrupt the session by being late.
6. Be polite.

Primarily Non-Asian Center:

Drepung Loseling Monastery*

1781 Dresden Drive

Atlanta, Georgia 30319

404-982-0051

www.drepung.org

*Before the Sunday 11 am sessions there is a restricted program (for those with the appropriate training and initiation). Please be mindful of this as you arrive, if you choose option 1 or 2 below.

1. Learn to meditate at our shamatha meditation sessions, every Sunday morning from 11:00am-Noon. These guided meditation sessions with instruction are designed to help you develop stability, calmness and clarity of mind.
2. Basics of Meditation—First Sunday of each month, 11:00am-1:00pm—Offered on the first Sunday of each month, from 11:00am – 1:00pm, our Basics of Meditation sessions introduce newcomers to the practice of meditation. Each session begins with a talk by Geshe Lobsang Tenzin, Spiritual Director of Drepung Loseling, followed by a guided meditation session, a question and answer period, and a community reception. This is also a good way to learn about Drepung Loseling and what we offer. Dress is comfortable clothing; cushions and chairs are provided.
3. Meditate for the healing of yourself, others, and the world at large at our monthly Medicine Buddha practices on the last Friday of the month from 7:30pm-8:30pm. Instruction is provided and newcomers are always welcome.

Additional etiquette information for this site:

Events at Drepung Loseling Monastery are casual in general, but there are a few points of etiquette you may want to be aware of to avoid confusion:

Kindly remove your shoes and place them in the shoe rack or on the floor before entering the shrine room.

Please rise in respect as the teacher enters the room, and wait until the teacher sits to be seated yourself. Please rise again at the end of the teaching when the teacher rises to leave.

Some people will bow in respect with their hands folded when the teacher walks by, and some will prostrate before and after the teaching. This is a sign of humility and respect for the teachings, and not an act of worship. You may feel free to bow and prostrate if you feel comfortable doing so, but you are not required to.

In the Tibetan tradition, it is considered impolite to stretch your legs towards the shrine or a teacher or to point the soles of your feet in their direction.

Out of respect, please do not place any Buddhist texts, images, or items (including handouts) directly on the floor or cushions. We have cloths available to place below your texts and items and you may ask for one. Dress code is casual but respectful. You may wish to wear something comfortable, as you may be sitting for long periods of time.

Please hold your questions and comments until the end of the teaching when there will be a question and answer period.

If the microphone is being passed around, please wait until you receive it to ask your question. This facilitates the recording made for those who couldn't make it to the teaching.

If you don't know, just ask! Members and staff persons will be happy to answer your questions. You can also email us at center@drepung.org and take a look at our FAQ. [Find these at www.drepung.org].
